No matter what you're selling, every sale follows roughly the same pattern of seven steps. Salespeople don't always think in terms of stages of a sale as being different events, but, in fact, they are, and they're all necessary to advance the process toward a sale. Mastering each one of these stages is essential if you're going to succeed in sales.

Your script should include basic key milestones, like this: Intros and rapport > pain points and similar experience > the pitch > pricing > credible story or case study > what are the next steps > follow up. In this example, you are trying to hit all of these milestones, or talking points. Once you hit one, you can then move on to the next.
